lishers and others, the packages were posted here by two men believed to have been Italians. The Rev. P. T. Stengele who had watched them address the infernal machines in the post-office, furnished a good description of the pair.

Expert Injured Two of the men in the coupe were said by those observing it here and a man in Phillipsburg, N. J., through which it passed later, to resemble the description given by the Rev. Stengele of the plotters.

Charles V. Weaver, explosive expert, who after the first package had been opened by the clerk in the post office where it exploded, killing the clerk and the clerk's companion and wrecking the front of the post office building, was hovering between life and death today. He was probably fatally hurt when he removed the infernal machines to a vacant lot to detonate them, and one exploded as he bent over it. The dead clerks were Edward Werkheiser, 28, and John House, 50. Two other clerks, Arlington Albert (Continued On Page Two)

One of the things the Pa Newcobserved when he started on his early evening round of downtown streets yesterday was a police motorcycle parked in front of a fire hydrant at Mercer and Washington

Be careful that you get the car back before midnight if you haven't 1932 registration plates on it!

This is going to be an especially lively New Year's eve if you should ask Pa Newc's opinion. Everybody seems to be going to a dance, a show or a watch party. Everyone has the feeling that 1932 should be welcomed in with a great big hand.

Down along one of the main streets, where large signs often rest out in front of stores, Pa Newc overheard one of a group of waterminded boys remark: "Say! That would make a swell skiff." "Gee, I'll say," the others chorused.

Probably 125 To 150 Of Neediest In List Will Secure Jobs

New Castle and Lawrence County will get its proportionate share of the labor to be employed in the clearing of the Pymatuning Dam site. This fact was established Wednesday afternoon following a conference between the Lawrence country, legislative delegation with Country legislative delegation with Country legislative delegation with Country legislative delegation with the countr

Out of the conference held Wednesday came the following details. Alertness of a local postal clerk, who with another lost his life after six dynamite-laden packages had been mailed here addressed to prominent men in New York, Baltimore, Pittsburgh and Huntingdon, Pa., alone averted a series of tragedies, police believed.

An employment registration office will be opened by the State in the Y. M. C. A. building on Monday morning, January 4, to continue through Tuesday. In addition, lists of needy unemployed men of the county will be furnished by various welfare agencies and on Tuesday afternoon Mr. Mottley will come to New Castle and select from this group of men a list that will be sent to the Pymatuning to work.

Total Of About 1,000 The total number of men used on the dam will be between 900 and 1000 according to Mr. Staley. Because the western counties near the dam the western counties near the dam and on the waters affected by the dam have a right to expect some of the labor, this number must necessarily be allocated among the various counties. Just what number Lawrence County will get is not certain but it is thought that upwards of 125 or 150 may be given employof 125 or 150 may be given en

Only Needy To Get Jobs
Only needy unemployed men, with dependents can expect to get employment on the dam. This will probably mean that few single men can expect to get work there, save for those who have dependents. The most of labor employed will be hand labor, the men being utilized in cutting down trees, grubbing out stumps, removing earth and other such duties. The work will not be the pleasantest in the world, neither will it be a place for drones. The jobs will be common labor jobs, with the men working 9 hours a day at 35 cents per hours.

NEW CASTLE NEWS

GET ONE BENEFIT

FTER seven weeks of discussion and debating at Harrisburg, which apparently got nowhere in particular, the special session of the state legislature adjourned yesterday.

Called by Governor Pinchot for the especial purpose of passing his program for the relief of the unemployed of the state, the session failed of its purpose. The governor's program was discarded, and in its stead was substituted one of the legislature's making, a measure appropriating $10,000,000 to poor boards of the various counties of the state for dispensing relief. It is a question whether or not this will be declared legal by the supreme court, so that even this mite of relief may not be forthcoming. The bill became a law without the signature of the governor, and its validity is questioned.

Apparently a majority of the legislature could not rise higher than the plane of politics, and as a result the accomplishments in the session for the state as a whole are mighty small or it was never worth having and and censure is being heaped upon the body from all sectors.

Just what will be done in providing relief for the needy sections of the state is more than we can predict. A serious situation seems to have been left in just as serious a condition, after seven weeks of conflict at Harrisburg.

However, this little section of Western Pennsylvania, of which Lawrence county is an important part, came out of the gold. And we found friends in 1931.

The sections of the state is more than we can predict. A serious situation seems to have been left in just as serious a condition, after seven weeks of conflict at Harrisburg.

special session with a slightly better showing than most other counties. The Pymatuning dam bill, which was passed at the counties. The Pymatuning dam bill, which was passed at the regular session, appropriating a million and a half dollars, which was later found to have been faulty, was repassed and corrected at the special session, so that instead of merely the amount needed for actual construction of the dam being available, the entire sum of a million and a half is available for use.

A million or more of this fund will be used for work necessary in clearing the site, and doing work other than actual building of the dam. Several hundred men at least will be provided employment in the near future, and some proportion of these will come from Lawrence county.

Hence, we in Lawrence county have one chance of enthusing over the special session that comes to the lot of few other counties of the state.

RETROSPECT AND PROSPECT

The year just ending has not been one of the best in a material

Dour souls profess to believe the people are "getting worse." They may be right, but there is not wanting evidence that the spirit of human brotherhood is growing stronger and warmer. Charity is more conspicuous than cupidity, the will to peace is gaining ascendancy over the arrogance and pride and belligerence that aforetime ruled the hearts and minds of men, the principle of live and let live is so commonly accepted and acted upon that we now help our neighbors to live and improve their condition. All these constitute spiritual advances. But they would not amount to much were they not financed. There is therefore solid reason for rejoicing that all the auguries are of better business in the year

Science and invention have contributed to the prolonging of human life, to making the work of the world easier of performance, to increasing the healthful pleasures of the people, to broadening opportunities for cultural improvement. The finer things of life are better appreciated and more in demand. Education is spreading as never before. And that faith in God has been strengthened is not to be doubted by anyone who observes the growing eagerness of our people to promote the spiritual welfare of the nation by alleviating and removing physical ills and disabilities according to His plan.

We wish all a Happy New Year, confident that conditions will soon be favorable to realization of happiness in greater measure than

HOME FOR THE HOLIDAYS

College boys and girls are home for the holidays and demandi more liberty than they did in their high school days-much to the consternation of worried parents.

Fathers pretend to be hard-boiled. When mothers worry about the children, they put on a wise and unconcerned mask and say, "Oh, they'll be all right. Nothing will happen to those kids. And even if anything could happen, we can't prevent it by worrying." Fathers like to make people believe they are strong, silent characters who hold the world in their hands and shape it to their wills.

Let others worry, they will not fear life. Not they. It's all a bluff. When mothers worry, they put their apprehensions into words. But when fathers worry, they fake and pretend to be unconcerned. But inside of themselves, they worry aplenty.

They may not worry about their sons. They've been boys the selves, and they like to boast about what tough little rascals they were, a scandal in the neighborhood, a tornado in the family. But they came brough all right, didn't they, and so will their sons. But as for their hters—well, that's another matter.

Fathers are afraid of their daughters and afraid for them. They don't know what to say to them, or how to resist them. They know that a boy shouldn't be spoiled, but they think a little spoiling can't hurt a To speak your praise or shed a tear. girl. They know a daughter is twisting her father about her finger, and they're proud of her ability to do it. 'They'll not stand for impuability to do it. They'll not stand for impu-hey chuckle when daughter is flip. But they Would rouse the faltering hopes of

They look ahead and worry about impossible dangers. They wonder what they'll do, what they'll say, how they'll handle the situation when ighter goes out with boys. What kind of boys will she like? Will she Cou have sense enough to know good boys from bad ones? Will he have any influence on her then? And suppose she falls in love with some worthless fellow and insists on spoiling her life by marrying him? What on earth will he be able to do about it if she does?

Father tries to seem strong and serene and confident and he conceals even from mother what he is thinking about the future. But he Of you, Old Year, when you lie dead worries—more often, more profoundly, than he will confess to anybody— Tonight I'll undertake to raise my humble voice to speak your

Some years ago a man of wealth erful friends were able to induce the district attorney to suppress the news, saying it would break his good heart. The gentleman in guestion was not particularly blame. question was not particularly blame-worthy, had committed no crime, but was intimately involved with some disreputable people. He consulted an old and true personal friend who happened to have had long experience in news editing. "Why, you are only building up a dam of mystery and suspicion," said the veteran newsman. "In the course of time this story will break and I of time this story will break and I assure you that for every line that might be printed now, a hundred lines will be published about you. SOMETHING WORTH

SOMETHING

It is a real pleasure these days to discover something worth something, no matter how little it may be. In this case, it is the good old Average Man for whom such a value has been found. The figure has been achieved by a London chemist with the name of Lawson. It is somewhat unfortunate that he chose the shilling as his monetary unit; but then, it still has some value, and that's the important point.

Doctor Lawson claims that the average man weighing 140 pounds is composed of enough water to fill a 10-gallon barrel, enough fat for 7 cakes of soap, enough carbon for 9,000 lead pencils, enough phosphorus for 2,200 match heads, enough manganese for one good dose of medicinal salts, enough items.

Need to Borrow Money

The mayor-elect further stated that the city council will have to borrow money from the first day of the new regime. He said the higher paid officers of the city had already received a 16 2-3 per cent wage cut.

"We thought that if we got two days' pay a month from the policemen and firemen and from some other employes that we would be able to get through without any raise in taxation," Mayne concluded.

Mayor Gillespie raised the question as to whether the city could retain the pay or whether the employes would hand it back to the paymaster. Councilman Treser said this question would be easy to solve.

Councilman Reeves, who advocated the plan, said that some of the city employes had been contributing a day's salary each month to the mayor's relief committee.

Reeves further stated that this represented 3 1-3 "cut" and two days' pay 6 2-3 per cent. In all, he said that the contributions would virtually mean a 10 per cent "reduction" in salaries.

HOSPITAL NOTES

SIGN OF SPRING Speaking of the wonderful sprins eather we have been having in the month of December here is further proof that there is likely to be very little winter weather this season.

About the first of December, Mrs. Jas. Butera Sr., missed her large hen. She supposed that someone had taken it to fatten up for Christmas

Tuesday morning Mrs. Anderson Lazar a neighbor of Mrs. Butera's heard a faint "peep peep" down near her grape arbor and upon investigating the noise she found the missing hen sitting on a nest of fifteen eggs, two of which were hatched.

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe said heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthmatory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold, no matter of how long standing, is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

Sports Writer NEW YORK, Dec. 31.—Billy Pet from Fargo, N. D., who has drubbed such good fighters as Jimmy Mc-Larnin, Tony Canzoneri and Justo Suarez, is on the warpath again.

Last night at Madison Square

Last night at Madison Square Carden the old Fargo Express ran over Billy Townsend, slugging Canadian from Vancouver, who was considered one of the brightest prospects in the velterweight division.

The youthful Townsend was literally slaughtered. Petrolle dropped him four times with his famous left hook. After 1 minute and 58 seconds of the seventh round, the Canadian was so far gone that Referee Willie Lewis awarded the fight to Petrolle on a technical knockout.

Townsend had to be carried to his corner when the bell saved him at in a fast and exciting battle at the New Wilmington floor last night. W. Rech won the game for the Wesley team by sinking a long shot in the final moments of play. The score was 18 to 17 in favor of the New Wilmington team and it looked bad for Wesley, till Rech flipped the ball through the hoops.

The Wesley team held a slight lead until the fourth quarter when the New Wilmington boys led by Myers and McMain started to find the hoops and tally points rapidly. Matthews was prominent in the Wesley victory with three baskets, while W. Rech, F. Rech and Irwin also played fine basketball. For the losers the work of Myers, Hartwell and McMain was the best.

Princeton next season.

That sport stars risk their popularity by assuming the thankless task of manager or coach of their old team, is a fact. The boys start with two strikes on them because the home folks expect too much. The home fans never seem to un-derstand that a player who can perform miracles at second base or at left end need not necessarily be able to pull them on the bench Just a year ago Lud Wray came back to Pennsylvania and hardly lasted even one season as football

Rolland H. Spaulding Thinks Trusteeship Plan Would Be Best Suited

(International News Service) BOSTON, Dec. 31.—Control of the holdings of the Pennsylvania railroad and the Pennroad Cor-poration in the Boston and Maine and the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroads by trusteeships under supervision of the interstate commerce commission was suggested today by former Governor Rolland H. Spaulding of New Hampshire

The chairman of the New England governors' railroad committee in his first comprehensive statement of the New England railroad situation since the report of the committee was presented last May offered the trusteeship plans as "the practical solution of New England's railroad problem."

England's two largest railroads by the Pennsylvania, "it is not necessary," said Chairman Spaulding, "that New England should own the stocks of its railroads, desirable as Chairman Spaulding said the setting up of the proposed trusts should be an integral part of the fourparty plan as it is finally approved by the I. C. C. All the New England governors, except Governor Norman Case of Rhode Island, recently joined in a petition of intervention in the four-party proceedings in Washington January 3.

Lacquered Hair For Milady In 1932 Will Be Exhibited At Beauty

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 31-Lac PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 31—Lacquered hair—forecast as leading among coiffures for milady at social functions during 1932—will be exhibited in all its phases at the annual fair and beauty pageant to be held here January 26th. The event is under the direction of officials of the Wilfred Academy of beauty and hairdressing of this city.

hairdressing of this city.

More than 50 styles of lacquered hair will be exhibited on living models according to officials of the show. M. Karl, famous coiffeur, has been named official stylist, and Geo. McWilliams and Mabel Grove have been placed in charge of arrangements for the affair.

Two hundred beautiful living models will demonstrate the new styles in hair dressing. Besides lacquered coiffures, platinum blondes will be represented in the show Five basic types of model coiffures will be featured.

"Styles of hair dress in general," according to Miss Estelle Gronberg, dean of the Wilfred Academy, 'will be free and plastic, with no rigid

An appropriation of $450,000 was made for the postoffice addition, of which $125,000 was used to buy the land. Although it isn't known how nter is interested it's because penter is interested it's because he is willing to pay the difference.

Negotiations were begun with high officials of the treasury department after it was announced that a St.

Louis contractor had underbid a local contractor by a few thousand dollars. Taking part in the negotiations for a new federal building are Senators George H. Moses and Henry W. Keyes, Postmaster Joseph H. Geisel and Carpenter, According to Mr. Geisel, Manchester has the practical assurance of the officials that the plans will be carried out. Plans for the new building will be ready soon and then will be submitted to the treasury department.

Part of "Civic Center"

To residents of New Hampshire, it is easy to understand why Carpenter became interested in a new post-office. For years he has been work-ing for the development of a "civic center" : cound Manchester's beautiful Victory park, in the heart of the city. Under the present plans the northern end of the annex will face
